Define Problem Statement:

The problem statement for the classification of freedom in the world involves evaluating and categorizing countries based on their levels of political rights and civil liberties. This classification typically uses indicators such as freedom of speech, freedom of the press, rule of law, political pluralism, and individual rights to assess the degree of freedom within a country. The goal is to create a systematic way to compare and rank countries according to their levels of freedom and democracy. This classification helps policymakers, researchers, and the general public understand the state of freedom across different nations and identify trends over time.
